

Kevin C. Darrenkamp
Vice President & General Counsel – Government Affairs

Mr. Darrenkamp currently serves as the legal advisor to Lockheed Martin Government Affairs – who are responsible for the corporation’s engagement of the U.S. Congress and Executive Branch officials. Mr. Darrenkamp advises on laws affecting corporate political activities, to include compliance with federal, state, and local lobbying laws, and campaign finance laws.

Prior to his current position, Mr. Darrenkamp was Vice President & General Counsel to one of the corporation’s four business areas – Missiles and Fire Control, a $14B business – where he had primary responsibility for managing a 50-member team that advised on all legal matters impacting the business – contracting activities, intellectual property management, risk management, employment and labor matters, regulatory affairs, litigation management, international trade compliance, and subsidiary governance.

Mr. Darrenkamp joined Lockheed Martin in 2000 and has worked in positions of increasing responsibility as general counsel to various operating units ranging in size from $500M - $14B. Mr. Darrenkamp was the inaugural Vice President & General Counsel for Lockheed Martin International where he designed and launched the legal organization supporting the corporation’s focus on business growth outside of the United States. In addition to his leadership and management responsibilities, Mr. Darrenkamp was counsel on several complex international transactions; including the award-winning Singapore Basic Wings Course (Asia Pacific Awards 2007 PPP Deal of the Year) and United Kingdom Military Flying Training System (2009 Public Private Finance Awards – Best Defence Project & Grand Prix Award).

Mr. Darrenkamp is a military veteran, having started his legal career with the U.S. Army as a Judge Advocate serving in Seoul, Republic of Korea and Colorado Springs, Colorado. Following his active duty service, Mr. Darrenkamp joined a private law firm in Colorado Springs, and later with U.S. Army Space Command. Mr. Darrenkamp continued his military service in the U.S. Army Reserve, retiring in 2013 at the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. With the full support of Lockheed Martin, Mr. Darrenkamp deployed in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom in 2007-2008.

Mr. Darrenkamp received his B.S. in Management Information Systems, with a minor in Computer and Information Science, from Oakland University and his J.D. from Thomas M. Cooley Law School. Mr. Darrenkamp also earned his M.B.A. from the University of Detroit while working as a Systems Analyst in the automotive industry.

Mr. Darrenkamp currently serves on the Board of Directors for Florida Citrus Sports and the Lockheed Martin Employees’ Political Action Committee. Mr. Darrenkamp previously served on the Board of the Florida Chamber of Commerce, and the Orlando Economic Partnership. Mr. Darrenkamp has two adult daughters, Julia and Cynthia.
